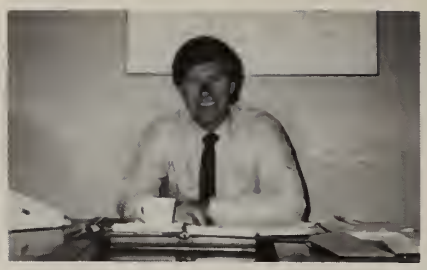
HEADMASTER'S MESSAGE



This year, my first at Balmoral Hall, has been a very exciting and memorable one. I certainly hope that it has been an equally rewarding year for the graduates for whom this yearbook is particularly significant.

From the Zone 12 Championships in Varsity Volleyball and Basketball, to the two Provincial Debating Championships, from Junior and Senior School's tremendous successes in the French Verse Speaking Contest to the large number of Provincial Science Fair Winners, the year has been filled with exciting student accomplishments.

As well, this will be remembered as the year of Reunion '87, an event which will be recorded as one of the most pivotal in the school's history. Anyone connected with B.H. will not soon forget the weekend of May 8, 9, 10th, 1987.

Much of the credit for the successful school year is due to the enthusiasm and commitment of the Grade 12 class. Led by Susan Rich and ably assisted by Andrea Baillie and Fumi Tamamori and the rest of the Prefects, the class made my job easier and I might add, a great deal of fun.

Thank you, graduating class, for all you have done for the school and good luck in your future endeavours.

Sincerely,
E.G. Staunton
HEADMASTER

CHAIRMAN OF THE BOARD

As the academic year at Balmoral Hall draws to a close, it is timely to consider the growth and development that has taken place within each individual student, among the staff, and within the institution itself.

First, to all of the school's students and especially to our graduating class: I trust that your experience at Balmoral Hall has been an enriching one and that, as a result, you feel more confident in your ability to make your way in our often complicated and difficult world. All the best to you in your future pursuits.

To the staff and to all those directly and closely involved in the life of the school: Thank you for your professionalism, dedication, and plain hard work. It is appreciated and it makes a difference because the work you do is so fundamentally a contribution to people and their communities.

Finally, we have seen another year of development at Balmoral Hall as an institution offering an excellent standard of education for young people. All of us who have been involved in the school are proud of that achievement and we are confident that those standards will be maintained and enhanced in future years.

Kerry Hawkins
CHAIRMAN OF THE BOARD

There is a saying which goes "those who never attempt the absurd never achieve the impossible." Well, I've done it. And here it is. Three Jostens' reps and several bottles of Aspirin later, I managed to finish the '86-'87 yearbook. I really hope you enjoy it, not just because it took a lot of time and effort on my part, but because this book is a record of a truly DANDY year.

Many changes took place at the school this past year, and you may notice a few changes in this year's book as well. For instance, there are fewer words, and more pictures. I thought that the story of this year would be better represented through pictures than through words. The spirit of the school can only be captured by the smiles on the film. This book is perhaps less serious than others in the past, but "the one serious conviction that a person should have is that nothing is to be taken too seriously." (N.M. Butler) This is my only defense.

. . . ALIX

My undying gratitude to all those who deserve it, namely: Mrs. Sures (my yearbook advisor), Mr. Staunton (who listened to all my complaints), Miss Bonnett (who supplied me with pictures), Susan Rich, Deanna Hansen, Carla Matthews, and Marnie Hilland (who helped out when I needed them), Mrs. Baillie (whose lessons in life are even more valuable than her lessons in Math), and Mrs. Cantlie (for her guidance through the years). Extremely special thanks to Miss Whittome (who typed for me – thank you! thank you!), and Mr. Burr (whose photos were a Godsend! – thank you! thank you!).

Last, but not least, some notes to the Class of '87:
- check through the candids in this book: remember the Globe Theatre 1986? "GREASE" night and the famous barbecue? The amazing nation Dozania? (And one great day in April which was recorded on film, but doesn't appear in these pages?)

- "The important thing is not to stop questioning." (Albert Einstein)
- "Show me someone with both feet on the ground and I'll show you a person who can't put their pants on." (Arthur K. Watson)
- "Peace is not the product of terror or fear. Peace is not the silence of cemetaries. Peace is not the result of violent repression. Peace is generosity. It is right and it is duty." (Archbishop Oscar Romero)
- And for History 300 fans: "The ownership of the means of production is the MASTER KEY!" (Karl Somebody-or-other)

Good luck and best wishes to everyone!

Love,
Alix

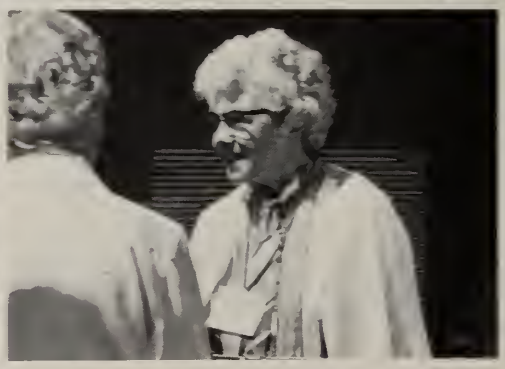
A Message to the Graduates

As I reflect on the Alumnae Association's very recent and tremendously successful REUNION '87, it is so easy for me and for so many others to recall phrases spoken at various events throughout that charged weekend by two individuals linked to you and to the School.

Some of these words I send to you by way of greetings, congratulations, and "welcome" to the ranks of a vibrant, healthy Alumnae committed to the motto of Balmoral Hall: "Seeking Better Things".

What is the Balmoral Hall Alumnae Association?
Ted Staunton: (It is) "tangible, living, vibrant evidence of the success of the four schools which comprise our past, Havergal, Rupert's Land, Riverbend and Balmoral Hall".

Why did we organize REUNION '87?
Staunton: "To join together to celebrate our communal past, our shared memories...to salute an important time in our youth."



What is its success relative to Balmoral Hall?
REUNION '87's evergreens are an everlasting commitment by Alumnae to Balmoral Hall.

What does the Alumnae Association mean to you, the new graduates?
In the words of Head Girl Susan Rich: "You may leave Balmoral Hall, but it never leaves you...you never have to say 'good-bye' to Balmoral Hall."

Welcome—to your past...and to your future.

ONES

THE THREE GIRLS

Once upon a time there was a girl that had a little sister that was one and a half. She was ten. Her name was Kristin and her sister's name was Kimberley. Kristin had a friend. Her friend's name was Heather. One day Heather and Kristin took Kimberley for a walk. They met a man. The man said "Can I walk with you? "No" said the girls! And they walked away.

THE BEAUTIFULEST BUTTERFLY

Once upon a time there was a beautiful butterfly and its name was Beauty. One day a spider was trying to make it come into his spider web. But she was too smart. He chased her everywhere but he never got Beauty. He chased her over a log, under a leaf, over every single sign, through the green grass, and down the lane. But suddenly she flew away and he never saw her again. One morning I was walking down the lane and I saw Beauty. She was very very beautiful. Everyday I took care of her so much and my dog and cat never got Beauty. My mom and dad loved it too. I had lots of fun with it. And we all lived happily ever after.

LOVE by Sarah
Love is dark red.
It tastes like chocolate.
It smells like a daisy.
And reminds me of summer.
It sounds like bells.
Love makes me feel like dancing.

LONELINESS by Kim B.
Loneliness is light gray.
It tastes like asparagus.
It smells like mother's home made soup.
And it reminds me of having no one to play with.
It sounds like a very bad wind.
Loneliness makes me feel like crying.

LONELINESS by Lara
Loneliness is dark gray.
It tastes like sour milk.
It smells like mold.
And reminds me of having a fight.
It sounds like someone screaming.
Loneliness makes me feel like crying.

HAPPINESS by Ashleigh
Happiness is hot pink.
It tastes like pizza.
It smells like perfume.
And reminds me of tulips.
It sounds like a bird singing.
Happiness makes me feel like jumping up and down.

JOY by Kim D.
Joy is bright yellow.
It tastes like grape juice.
It smells like roses.
And reminds me of birds.
It sounds like a fresh sea breeze.
Joy makes me feel like sewing.

WITCHES
I like witches.
Pink witches, yellow witches,
Black witches, any kind of witch.
A witch dancing with a skeleton,
A witch on a broomstick.
A witch on a roof,
A witch in a costume.
I like witches.
Glowing witches, Big witches,
Little witches, Dusty witches,
Shiny witches, I like witches.

FRIENDSHIP
A friend is a person you really like, She'll play with you and ride your bike. She'll share her lunch with you at school, And she'll come swim in your pool. For your birthday she'll give you a horse, With lots of power and lots of force. You'll share your ice cream with her at the store, But don't forget to be home by four. She'll sing a song for you on a tape, In return you'll give her a fancy cape. So that's what friendships all about, Do not cry or do not pout.

FRIENDS
Friends are people that you can trust, They'll never turn their back, or walk away, They're people who'll always like you. What would the world be without friends? It would be dark and gloomy, and no one would know what to say, whenever they passed you, day-by-day. Friends are wonderful to talk to, when you have a problem, they won't go away.

- By Maria Reimer

FRIENDS

Friends are helpful, friends are kind, friends never "never mind"! They help you when you're upset, they want to play with you, they help you when your hurt, so you won't feel blue!

They play with you at recesses, they stand by you in line, they play with you at their house, maybe even mine! You may be other peoples friends, they may think you are nice, well anyone who is my friend, is like sugar and spice!

- By Diana

MEMORIES OF A FRIEND
Two figures holding hands walking by the oceanside. Cool water trickles up to their toes. Every once in a while, a warm breeze and a few droplets of water spray. The sun giving a warm, evening glow sparkled on the water breaking into tiny diamonds. Both of them thinking up mysterious adventures of the sea. Both of them sharing the love between them. That day, they had traded their shoes. If ever they had a huge argument and hated each other, they would have memories to hold onto . . . Memories of a friend.

The days that we can look back on Junior School as a mere memory are fast approaching. The times that seemed so long could now be called short. The years of being younger, always looking up to see another's face, would be willingly called back, now that we are leaving.

When I was young I looked up to the grade 6's. I considered them so lucky. In a way we are lucky, we are prefects, patrols, and the oldest in Junior School, "examples" the teachers say. In a way we are not lucky. The sense that we will be leaving the happiness, the freedom, the leisure of Junior School in a while that passes so quickly, haunts us. I know that time will not stop so we can stay in Junior School, but I cannot help wishing it would not end so soon.

I would be lying if I were to say that we did not look forward to Senior School. Even though we reluctantly leave, an irresistable voice still beckons us to grade 7, farther to futures that will hopefully be happy and successful.

When we enter junior high it is like entering a new world, starting at the bottom again, working up step by step, day by day, hour by hour.

A STORY

It was late, very late. Paul Ruzelle wandered aimlessly through the brutal storm in Whitestone Park. He had been running, but now he stopped. The rain was pouring down. He looked around him at the dimly lit park. The playground structures seemed to be laughing at him. Paul shivered. Usually he came to the park to clear his mind, but tonight his thoughts were still cluttered. He couldn't shake the sick feeling in the pit of his stomach, and yet he couldn't put his finger on anything that could be wrong. Soaked, Paul sat down on a bench, his long, muscular legs stretched out in front of him. He was a large boy of awesome proportions. Still, his size had never bothered him – until now. He had never been concerned with worldly possessions – why were they such a problem now? And his parents . . . they had never irritated him this much in the past.

Paul got up restlessly. What would change his life? What was wrong with it in the first place? He needed a change. His life was going nowhere. He wanted to get on with things. After all, he'd be finished school in June. His parents were too easygoing. Couldn't they see that life was passing them by? He thought of his friend Michael. Michael was in control and knew where he was going. He had been accepted into Dentistry for the following year at the local university. With Michael's lucrative job at the local video store, he was a man with a future. A real future, thought Paul. Again he sighed. Paul turned toward the park exit. He would take control of his life too. He really would. Paul headed for home. Anyone could see that it was time to get out of the rain.

* * * * * * * * * * * * * * * *

"Time to get up, Paul," called Mrs. Ruzelle. She wasn't a normal mother. In fact, she wasn't a normal woman at all. Mr. and Mrs. Clove Ruzelle were oxen. This frustrated Paul in many ways. He was a normal boy, and it infuriated him that this awkward situations of his parents brought havoc with his life.

"Coming, mother" said Paul as he rolled out of bed. Sleepily, he staggered into the kitchen wearing just his pyjama bottoms. He scratched his smooth chest, yawned and sat down at the table.

"Here's your breakfast, Paul", she said, putting a plate of eggs and bacon in front of him. Mrs. Ruzelle then sat down and began to munch contentedly on a bowl of oats. Paul dropped his fork. He had to spend more time out of the house. "Mother," he said, "I'm getting a job."

An oat was hanging from the side of her mouth as she began to laugh in a high-pitched way. She snorted and looked at Paul with her big brown eyes. "Whatever for, Paul?" she said. If you need more money, your father and I will give it to you. You have your whole life ahead of you to work."

Paul pushed away his plate. "I just want to do something for myself. Be independent."

"I'm hurt, Paul" said Mrs. Ruzelle. "Your father and I feel we should provide for you. You'll be graduating in a couple of months, so just enjoy yourself. There's no rush."

"For me there is" said Paul roughly as he got up and left his confused mother in the kitchen.

Mrs. Ruzelle sniffed as a tear rolled down her slanted face. "How did I have a son so different from myself?" she asked herself with her head in her hooves.

* * * * * * * * * * * * * * *

"Cinema 7 is over to your left" said Paul as he directed the loving couple. It was one week since he had been hired as an usher at Shadyview Cinema. The job interview had been a personal victory, and it seemed he was on the road to independence. Now young Ruzelle wasn't so sure. It took so much time, and the job itself (ripping tickets) didn't challenge the musclebound Paul. And what was the result? His parents were upset and he had recently failed a chemistry test. Well, today was payday. Perhaps things would look up. His shift finally ended (He had seen the picture seven times now and was glad to get off duty) and he went to pick up his cheque.

"You've done well, Ruzelle" said Bob O'Shea, his tanned young boss. "See you tomorrow."

"Thanks" said Paul as he accepted his pay (Bob had paid him in cash) and stepped out into the cool moonlit night. He unfolded the crisp bills in his sweaty palm, and tallied their sum. $90.25 – not a bad haul for five days work. But it certainly had been work. Just then he saw the lights shining from Happy's penny candy store. Memories from his childhood flooded to his mind and with a rush of emotion he entered the store. It was smaller than he remembered. He felt out of place, and quickly purchased two jawbreakers and some strawberry marshmallows. With the quarter out of his way, he now had $90 cash – straight cash. Three twenties and three tens.

He popped three strawberry marshmallows into his mouth. They tasted like grit, not at all like he remembered them, so he spit them out in disgust. He had to pass through Whitestone Park on his way home and he headed there now. His mind was an intricate web of his social strife, and Paul sat down on a park bench. He gazed at the stunning purple Canadian ten dollar bill in his hand. John A. MacDonald was his favorite Prime Minister, and he started at the leader's head with respect. Paul was deep in his thoughts. His eyes were transfixed.

"Good evening," said a dignified stately voice, with an English accent.

Paul jumped. He stared at the bill in disbelief. MacDonald's lips had just moved. And where did that voice come from? Paul must have been dreaming.

Paul was tired, dizzy, and confused. He knew now what he wished he'd known a week ago. He threw the money down and walked home.

* * * * * * * * * * * * * * *

In the quiet, empty park, a small girl wearing the Hunter-McLean tartan spotted the cash, picked it up and walked away.

* * * * * * * * * * * * * * *

So, wherever you go, and whatever you do, always remember and never forget Paul. Keep your feet on the ground and keep reaching for the stars. It's been a dandy year.

Love,
Susan & Andrea

Well, another year has come and gone! This year we were very busy in the library, and were honored to have such Canadian authors as Ian Wallace, Suzanne Drinkwater, Frances Duncan, Dianne Wheeler, and Martha Brooks visit us. Ms. Brooks helped the Junior School boys and girls celebrate at their "dress as your favorite storybook character" party, as she told stories, sang, and played her guitar – a definite highlight in the library this year. I have learned and experienced many new things this year, and would like to thank my committee for helping out when help was needed. I would also like to thank Sarah McNally, the grade six Library Prefect, for a job well done. Last, but definitely not least, I'd like to thank Mrs. Law for her supportive and encouraging comments which helped to keep me trucking on 'till the end. Thanks, and good luck to all.

RESIDENCE

What can I say? It certainly has been quite an experience being Head of Res. this year! We had quite an "international community", and I think it made res. just amazing!!

At times it was difficult. We certainly had no problems, but I think all the good times out-did the bad. There were changes this year, and a lot of "fresh faces". The first and second terms were under the keen eye of Mrs. Osborne. Then Miss Maureen Switzer came in and "took over" in third term.

I would like to thank both of these leadies for helping me with my position. I also want to thank

ANDREA . . .

Jeriann George and Fumi Tamamori for making my job a lot easier.

Being Head of Residence was certainly an experience that I will never forget. Good luck to next year's Head of Res., and to all the "live-ins". I will do my best to help res. in any way I can next year.

Love always,

Andrea Oberdieck

P.S. Has anyone heard the piano playing at 3:00 AM lately??!!

ATHLETICS

FUMI . . .

My year as Sports Captain at B.H. was very exciting and fulfilling. It was hard work and took a lot of time organizing events, but all went well.

Thank you to Mrs. Westdal, the Sports Council, and all who participated!

Good luck in '87-'88!

Love, Fumi

Front Row: Katie Florentine (Brae. 8), Isha Kahn (CG8), Seema Joshi (GG 8), Ardyth DeFehr (Ball. 8), Paddy Cramp (GG 10), Lisa Venditti (Ball. 10), Farah Kahn (CG 10). 2nd Row: Michelle Ball (Brae. 12), Fumi Tamamori (Sports Cptn.), Mrs. Westdale, Jackie Collins (GG 12), Jeriann George (Ball. 12). Missing: Sherry Dunn (Brae. 10), Deanna Hansen (CG 12).

BALLATER!

Hey Ballater,
Wasn't it just a GREEN and GROOVY year?! I know I had fun – I hope you did too! The best part was winning the Swim Meet – that one point made all the difference, it showed that we ARE number one (even if we did lose in everything else.) But hey, at least we enjoyed ourselves, right? Yeah! Well, take care of Kermie, keep up the hand-jive, and to next year's house head – have a ball!

Luv and luck,
Jeriann

BRAEMAR!

Braemarians, you have made me proud! Together, we laughed, cheered and played hard to make intramurals a Ball of fun. We were certainly sneaky too. Usually the happiest team places last – but us – no way! Braemar came out on top this year – right where we belonged. Bernadette asked me to congratulate each and every one of you for her. I not only send my best wishes too, but I want you to know that I could never have been happier or more proud than I have been as the Braemar Prefect this year. Michelle Ball

CRAIG GOWAN!

We finally made it! We successfully completed another year, and although we didn't win, it was great. Thanks for making my year as the Craig Gowan house head such a good one. Good luck next year and in the years to follow.

GLEN GAIRN!

Well guys, we made it through another year of intramurals and this one proved to be a success. Working as a team and maintaining that spirit led us to victories in volleyball, basketball, and track . . . a job well done! Thanks for giving me the privilege of being head of such a great house . . . it's been fun. Congrats to all Glen Gairners and to my successor.

Keep the spirit!!

VOLLEYBALL

Junior

This year the Junior team took second place in the MCSAA with a record of 7 wins and 2 losses. In the final tournament at St. Mary's Academy, the girls won, to become league champions. Good luck to these girls who will make a fine Varsity team in the future!

Freshman

The Freshman team participated in the Crosstown Conference (Zone 12). At season's end they tied for second place with St. Boniface. Well done, ladies!

Front Row: Alana Gunn, Sarina Pal, Val Ternan, Kim Simmans. 2nd Row: Rebecca Staunton, Heather Jessiman, Tracy Kurz, Karen Shanski, Sandy Pearson, Lauren Toni.

Varsity

ZONE 12 CHAMPIONS!

The Blazer Spirit reigned supreme, as the Varsity team bumped, set, spiked and blocked their way to the '86-'87 Zone 12 Championship. They defeated St. Mary's Academy 16-14, 15-8, 13-15, 8-15, 15-8 before a capacity crowd in Ricardson Hall. This is the first time in a long time that our girls have had their names on the trophy. Congratulations on an amazing year!

BASKETBALL

Front Row: Sarah Ullyot, Jade Hume. 2nd Row: Ranya Kahn, Wendy Ip, Rebecca Dillon, Arifa Lucman. 3rd Row: Helen Lee, Manon Lisowski, Kerri Kaprowy, Seema Joshi, Amy Johnson, Carolyn Russell. 4th Row: Kori Foran, Patty Diaz, Elinor Simons, Ainsley Price, Wendy James, Isha Kahn, Katie Florentine, Alex Mercury, Mrs. Batson.

ZONE 12 CHAMPIONS!

Varsity

The Varsity Basketball team had an incredible year, finishing second in league standing with a record of 6 and 2, just behind St. Mary's Academy. The best of 3 championship series vs. St. Mary's showed that the BH Blazers were the superior team. The Blazers took the Zone 12 Championship 44-43, 44-41.

MEET THE CLASS OF 1987

Michelle, Lisa, and Melanie

MICHELLE BALL '84-'87
BRAEMAR

At the beginning of grade 10, Michelle left behind a normal life in Estevan, Saskatchewan, to bounce into the somewhat bizarre rituals of B.H. res. From the first glimpse of her long sleek lines, it was apparent that we had caught a real live "Ball" player. Whether it was basketball, volleyball, track and field, soccer, softball, or Xmas dinner, Michelle never failed to score a "Perfect 10" (well . . . maybe 9½). Not just a leader in sports, Mick consecutively placed high on the honor roll, was elected to the grade 11 Grad Exec, and became the Braemar House Head in her final year. All else aside, Shell could often be found hunting escaped gerbils in the science lab, carefully examining both sides of a volleyball net, hobbling off to a physio appointment, or studying in the shadows of Cousin's. During her three years at B.H., Michelle has mastered such skills as: the art of survival, from feats like jumping down a flight of stairs to falling off her bike; the smiting of specific members of an inferior group (men); the impersonation of a certain Bio teacher; and chewing gum in Math class without getting caught. (Rumor has it that she still sleeps with a Teddy Bear). The best of luck to you in the Big TO, Michelle, although we don't think that you really need it!

LISA WILDER '85-'87
CRAIG GOWAN

Lisa entered our halls in grade 11, and to her surprise became vice-president of her class. During the year she was often found curled up in a ball in the grade 11 locker room beside her bag of bagels and cream cheese.

Although Lisa was not very active in school life, her senior year was spent as the President of her region for BBYO. Lisa put in a lot of time and effort to make her year as President a very successful one.

Lisa established her own personal cot in the common room, much to Mr. Staunton's dismay. Her favorite pastime is clearly sleeping.

While in school Lisa's diet consisted mainly of Big Mac's, coffee, and strawberry marshmallows. Intramurals and gym weren't your favorite classes, were they Lisa?!

We'll always remember Lisa for her numerous love affairs across the continent. Robert, Jeff, and Kenny to mention a few.

Presently Lisa is working at Au Coton, and has purchased a 1982 Honda Civic. She will be attending U of W in the fall. Best of luck to you Lisa, we love ya!

MELANIE CROZIER '83-'87
BRAEMAR

Melanie first appeared at B.H. to charm the halls of residence until she broke out two years later to reside in Osborne Village, (She just could not pull herself very far away.) Originally a Flin Flonian, Melvie entered the big-city uninhibited, untrendized, and oversocialized. She has successfully remained all three. At B.H., Melanie enjoyed softball in grade 12 but focused most of her agility and sports-labelled genes on volleyball to specialize in blocking and become a co-captain in her final year. Due to the good influence of a close friend (whose hand appeared permanently attached to the hem of her kilt), Mel's marks steadily improved over the years to fall somewhere on the border of the honor roll range. Outside of school, Mel's activities have included the trading of cars like baseball cards, strange happenings in Grant Park's McD's parking lot, a recent fetish for burger bundles, and a certain K.M. A charming, friendly, fun-loving, easy-going girl with perfect teeth and great legs, Melanie is destined to be nothing less than a huge success next year at U of M.

Knock 'em dead, Mel!

Susan, Andrea, and Linda

SUSAN RICH '79-'87
CRAIG GOWAN

Susan Rich . . . need I say more? No, but I will anyway. She came to B.H. in grade 6 and ever since has been known for her constant smile and witty remarks. She earned her claim to fame with her comical pig puns in Mrs. Cantlie's English 200 class and also with her high spirited cheer cheers for Craig Gowan in intramurals. She's played many roles in our school plays, from Mr. Bumble to Ado Annie etc., and charmed the audience with her French accent in "The Boyfriend".

Her political positions are well worth mentioning. In grade 6, she was the vice-head of Junior School, in grade 10, the Craig Gowan house head, and has been class president. And that's nothing. No one will ever forget the speech given in grade 11, the crowd chanting her name, but for what? Nothing less than Head Girl, the highest student position a person can achieve. Needless to say, she did an exceptional job. We all love and will miss her. No one will forget Susan Rich.

ANDREA BAILLIE '85-'87
BRAEMAR

When Andrea came to B.H., she brought with her a whole new world. All of a sudden it was likely that Richard III was knocking at the door, possessed eggs (messengers of Lucifer) were probably taking over Texas, and undoubtedly there was a polar bear living in the canteen. It was not out of the ordinary to find Andrea making siren noises while flashing lights, or screaming while banging pans against the wall. But most often you could find her at 3:15 in homeroom. Alone.

Andrea made our year truly dandy as School Captain. In student council meetings, she provoked many questions. In executive council, she answered them!

Not only has Andrea been a good friend, starred in our school plays, achieved honor roll standing, and been enthusiastic during intramurals, she has also managed to hold the position of vice-president of the Shoe Club (a real "feet").

Next year, Andrea will be taking the U of M Arts program by storm. So, wherever you go, and whatever you do, think of Andrea. Have a dandy life!

LINDA GRAHAM '80-'87
CRAIG GOWAN

In the fall of 1980, Linda arrived on the doorstep of B.H. During Linda's seven years she has contributed greatly to B.H. school life.

Linda was a very active member of Craig Gowan house. During intramurals, Linda could be seen directing cheers and participating in all activities. She was also a very involved member of the volleyball team from grades 7 to 12. She held the position of class president in Grades 7&8. In her final year Linda was vice president of her class.

Linda can often be seen driving her sporty blue "Bu" blaring tunes. Every morning Linda drives to school with half of the Grade Twelve class in the back seat. She resides in the most patriotic house on Kingsway. Linda's a faithful member and founder of the "Blue Club". There is always a smile on Linda's face and she either has wine gums or red super nibs in her mouth.

Linda was proud to be a member of the B.H. family. She dedicated a lot of time and effort and was thought of as the Eleventh Prefect.

Next year Linda will attend Western in London, Ontario. She will no doubt become very successful in any field she wishes to pursue and will someday soon own a white convertible rabbit. Good luck, Linda!

Bonnie, Shaleni and Ada

BONNIE CUNNINGHAM '79-'87
GLEN GAIRN

Little Bonnie Cunningham, what a gal! She came to B.H. in 1979, and was head of Glen Gairn in grade 6. Bonnie took part in many aspects of school life, such as the school choir in from grades 5 through 9 and bell choir in grades 10 and 11. She joined the iibrary committee in grade eight, and continued through till grade 12. This year she became the Library Prefect. Great going, Bonnie! This gal also took part in the sports life at B.H. in grade 10, she played on the Freshman basketball team, in grade 11 she was the Varsity Basketball manager, and in grade 12 she was the Varsity volleyball manager and played on the Varsity basketball team. Bonnie is also well known at Grapes, her favorite hang-out, where she can be seen leaving her name and number on the cheques for the cute waiters. After graduating, she will be going to the U of M and entering the Faculty of Human Ecology. Good luck with your future, Bon, we know you'll do well!

SHALENI NIGAM '79-'87
GLEN GAIRN

Shaleni has been a part of the B.B.H. family since grade 5. As a member of Glen Gaim and an avid member of the curling club, (Mrs. Baillie's prize curlerl), she has shared her bubbly personality with the school. Shaleni was involved with the choir from grades 5 through 9. She has become well known at her famous hang-out, Times. We all know Shal loves to PARTY! Shaleni is also the type of person one can count on to cheer them up at all times. Her ambition is to wander through life totally carefree, because, according to Shal, "life is too short!" Her favorite saying is: "O.K., goodbye!" Next year Shaleni plans to attend U of W and take Education. We'll miss your happy smiling face, Shal. Best of luck with your future!

ADA LAZARECK '80-'87
GLEN GAIRN

Ada was born in Russia, and came to Canada when she was six. This is likely what built her friendly attitude towards meeting new people. She shows an interest in every single person. (She was the one who started talking to a girl who didn't speak English.)

Ada joined B.H. in grade six. Although she was always interested in the classes she took, and enjoyed her last year at B.H., Ada never managed to get involved in school activities. Why? Because she is going to Denmark to perform rhythmic gymnastics this summer. She was active in sports, including the B.H. Jazz Company in grade ten, and she taught rhythmic gymnastics to us in Phys. Ed. Ada was on the library committee this year, and became Junior School's favorite person to talk with after school. Yes, she loves KIDS! She is hoping to teach handicapped kids, or work in early childhood education in the future.

Ada, good luck taking education at U of W. I will be thinking about how my twin sister is doing while I'm in Japan. We'll all miss you!

Linda, Amy, and Jeriann

LINDA KWONG '86-'87
BALLATER

Since Linda Kwong (from Hong Kong) came to B.H., the school hasn't been the same. This lively, dimpled addition to Res. is the only person who'd ever think that "over the hill" was a festival. Being a Diet Coke maniac, if you went into "The Kwonger's" room, you were always sure to find at least 6 empty cans just lying around.

Linda came to B.H. after 2 years of schooling in England, and she can often be heard saying things like: "Can I borrow your file during free?"

Linda, known for her "lucky elephant" at exam time, is the biggest Tom Cruise/James Dean fan ever born! Go into her room and you'll see life-size (well, almost life-size) pix of them everywhere. Believe it or not, there's a picture of Tom Cruise in her calculator! This girl is the only creature alive who could seem sweet and quiet to teachers and then go back to Res. and give people life-long scars (seriously!)

Anyway, Long-Duk-Kwong, keep up the dog imitations, good luck at the University of Wherever in the Faculty of Your Choice (inside joke), and see ya at the reunion (with your sporhh-ty kids!).

AMY COUGHLIN '72-'87
BALLATER

Amy has been a part of Balmoral Hall for fourteen years. She is what one would call a "true B.H. student". She was head of her house for grades six and ten. Amy was also greatly involved in many extra-curricular activities, including track and volleyball. Amy is known for her strawberry blonde hair (yes, strawberry blonde, not red!), and her happy freckeled face. How many freckles do you actually have, Amy? Since the day Amy graced B.H.'s hallways with her swinging kilt, she has been enjoyed by all. We all look forward to graduating with you Amy, and wish you the best of luck at U of M next year! Keep on laughing!

JERIANN GEORGE '83-'87
BALLATER

Hey there Jeripoo, or should I say Le Pet! You were not only Le Pet in French class, but in all classes! Wow, from the shy "Georgie-Ann" (quoted from Mrs. Baillie), to the outstanding, fantastic actress, the famous Ballater house head, the vice-president of the Shoe Club, and the (goodie-goodie) helper for Mrs. Westdal. Well, enough flattering! I wish people knew the real you, but don't worry, I won't tell anybody about how I used to try and hide you while you caked on face powder during English class, and how you used to skip dance class to meet you-know-who at E.P. One thing's for sure Jeripoo, if you need to skip classes to buy Mme stationary for her birthday, you don't tell Mrs. Sures that, you tell her that you've got a doctor's appointment! But seriously, Pineapple Hair, I mean, Jeriann, you are a very talented person who can "touch the stars" and wherever you are, and whatever you do, we'll be cheering for you!

Alix, Vickie, and Sue

ALIX HERSAK '81-'87
GLEN GAIRN

The yearbook is here because Alix threatened the grade twelves to bring their baby pictures, and physically forced people to show up for group pictures. But she did it, and the year was worth it. People will never forget and always remember Alix as "Poor Little Pierette/Polly Browne" or "southern belle Laurey" in a musical or something (hamper auctions, strange boys – with "bobs" then without – and oxen). French family life discussions have indicated that the intelligent Alix will not have children – but she can always been seen talking to someone from Junior School. So good luck Alix, we thank you fifiteen hundred times (the number of pages in the Communist Manifesto). We'll never forget your outspoken efforts and your jokes and we'll all remember your candy abstinence at Lent. Have fun, and if a character from a novel knocks on your door, let them in.

VICKIE PALMER '73-'85, '86-'87
GLEN GAIRN

Since nursery school Vickie has been wearing the Hunter McLean tartan, except of course for her grade 11 year. She attempted to escape, but was not successful as she returned for this, her final year.

We have seen many different sides of "Victoria" since she has been here. We've seen Vickie the grades 6 and 10 house heads, Vickie the honor roll student from grades 8 through 10, etc., etc. Although we have seen many different aspects of Vickie, we have never really seen one thing. Nobody knows how long her hair is, or if in fact she actually has any. Is it a wig, Vickie?

We will all miss her next year when she is attending U of M for first year general sciences. After that – who knows?

SUE ALLEMEIER '80-'87
GLEN GAIRN

Sue has always been an excellent student with an outspoken nature. She became famous within her English class for her amazing vocabulary (is that really a word, Sue?), but school-wide celebrity status was only achieved after an amazing display during grade 11 spirit week. To this day no one has made a litre of root beer disappear so fast! (Come to think of it, no one has seen Sue within a 10 mile radius of a can of root beer since!) Sue's spirit has shone throughout her B.H. career, but her smile became noticeably brighter this year as a direct result of the discovery of privileges: "who wants to go for coffee?" This smile also appears at the mention of the name "B_____". From time to time, Sue can be seen driving around in a certain yellow sportscar (ownership unknown?) and was heard discussing the hard life of a soldier. To think that we believed she spent her weekends at the Manitoba Children's Museum! Good luck next year, Sue, and always remember that we love you!

Ratna, Kim, and Fumi

RATNA DAS '81-'87
CRAIG GOWAN

Ratna Das, better known as Fidgit to some, joined the school in many ways, one of the most notable as being the leader of the Canteen Crew. Ratna will be remembered for re-opening the canteen in September and finally getting the smell out of the fridge in October. (At least we got junk food.) Well done Ratna! It seemed that Ratna was always in the library studying her favorite subject . . . Chemistry? Or were you writing slogans for the AMMC club? Two things which Ratna can look forward to in the future are: no more 8:15 History classes, and best of all, the bet expires in 1990!! Academically Ratna has maintained her position on the honor roll for 5 years, and will probably continue the trend at U of M. Good luck next year and in the future. We hope you will reach all the goals you set for yourself, Ratna. Lots of love.

KIM WIESE '84-'87
BALLATER

Kim (a.k.a. "Kimmy" to her classmates) joined B.H. in grade 9. Although she was shy and quiet in the beginning, we all soon got to know the "real" Kimmy. Shades of this wild and crazy gal began to show in grade 10 when she became co-founder of the prestigious AMMC club. To the horror of her classmates, she even began to rebel on Mufti days – heavens! In grade 11, we saw "Laser Kim" and "Kim the Uncontrollable Gambler" and the historic bet with R.D. was made. In grade 12, she became "Kim the Athlete" when she did extremely well in track and field, and participated in the Zone 12 track meet. The 1986-87 school year also witnessed the emergence of "Kim the Artiste" (a.k.a. Great Greatest Interior Designer of the Universe!) Her flair for art and design arts flourished . . . or so we are led to believe. Just how many people have actually seen your portfolio, Kim? Is it really that bad or are you saving the work for the K.W. are exhbition at the Louvre? One thing Kim never managed to hide, however, was her willingness to help and her bonafide heart of silver. You coolman you. Best of luck for the future, Kim-Banola-Bar. We'll miss ya!

FUMI TAMAMORI '84-'87
BRAEMAR

Fumi came to B.H. in 1984, and this is her third year here. Fumi comes from Japan, and she is a member of the residence. She could hardly speak English when she first came, but after three years she can speak the language fluently. Occasionally, however, she will have difficulties in saying long words like "privileges"! Fumi is very emotional; you can always see her crying, especially when she first came to the school. She was the 1987 Sports Captain, and she has participated in every sport. (The only sport she doesn't like is swimming!) Because she's on every single school team, you will never find her in residence after school – she is always busy!

Fumi is quiet and friendly. However, when you know her, she can talk to you non-stop all night! Sometimes she talks like a cat, probably because she likes the animal so much!

Fumi will be going back to Japan after graduation, and she'll be going to university there. Good luck Fumi, and have fun! Come back to see us soon!

Kim, Jackie, and Sorrel

KIM BARNSLEY '83-'87
CRAIG GOWAN

Kim has been a vibrant part of B.H. since grade 9. When she arrived from her former French immersion school, Kim beat us all in French class, and supplied us with the guessing game conducted weekly as to whether she and Jackie C. were friends or not. Actively participating in basketball and track, our friendly on again-off again blonde with the big grin kept busy. In her senior years, what with managing a certain fast food restaurant, having a car, seeing a young man by the name of ___ ___ ___, and running to and from tanning sessions, it's amazing that Kim found time for school. Known for M&M's in English and waking people up when it was their turn to read, Kim certainly earned her place in the class of '87! By the way Kim – there is NO NEED! NO NEED AT ALL! We all wish you the best of luck and hope to see you again in the future (perhaps as the owner of Maxim's?!?)

JACKIE COLLINS '82-'87
GLEN GAIRN

Jackie came to B.H. from Sansome Junior High in grade 8, a loud, rebellious head-banger with her Farrah Fawcett hairdo. Somewhere along the line, she actually became tamed. Jack ends grade 12 with many achievements, a new hairdo, and only one boyfriend. Jackie even sat down one day and studied. She surprised her parents (and herself) by keeping up an honor roll standing since grade 10. This athlete has added great contributions to the sports program at B.H. including basketball, volleyball, softball, track and field, and has been captain of the basketball team since grade 10. Jackie was elected Glen Gairn house head in her senior year. But, who is the Jack we all know? She's the girl often caught rocking to the Annie soundtrack in the halls (Just kidding, it's Georgia Satellites all the way!) She's the zombie who never sleeps and makes up for it in classes, especially English class! She's the class delinquent nominated for the "most likely to be jailed" award. She's fun. She She's wild. She's crazy. Don't be too crazy though, Jack. Remember that advice, "love is great, but . . ." as Jackie would say, "there's no need for that!" Luv ya, Jack.

SORREL FITZ-SIMON '84-'87
BRAEMAR

Sorrel came to B.H. in grade 10, and actually remained (to the surprise of everyone) until grade 12 to graduate with the rest of her class.

Sorrel's first year was spent in residence, and a wild year it was. Mrs. McKenna never did find out who defaced those posters. It was Joelle right?

Due to Sorrel's bad knees she was limited in the amount of sports she could participate in. Sorrel displayed her ability for Braemar House during Intramurals. She was also on the Baseball team in her Senior year.

When Sorrel attended class she was often seen staring out the window, but we always knew she was listening. Sorrel's pet-peeves include exams, preppies, and Wham. Her favorite sayings are "What was the question?", "Is that a trick question?" and "There's no need." Her ambition: to become a physiotherapist, and her probable destiny: to work for Labatt's.

Sorrel will be traveling next year and then attending school at the U of M. You will attend, right? Good luck buddy.

Heather, Kerrie, and Deanna

HEATHER CUNNINGHAM '81-'87
BALLATER

Heather Cunningham (alias P.C.B.B.) has been roaming the halls of B.H. since the seventh grade. A quick six years later, she rose to the position of grade 12 class president. Heath is known for her wacky personality with sayings such as "it's casual" and "hey kids, how's tricks?", her explosive smile, stories of Minaki, and her incredible obsession with tanning. She made it clear to us that leeches, cheddar cheese, and facial hair were not to her liking. Heather was always hungry when the lunch hour rolled around . . . maybe this was because she always managed to eat before the first bell rang! Academically, Heather's excellent study habits and love for reading should greatly benefit her next year at U of M, where she will study languages in the Faculty of Arts, We all wish you well, H.C. "You're an animal, we love ya, now get outa here!" xxoo

KERRIE O'KEEFE '81-'87
BALLATER

Kerrie O'Keefe (alias O.V.) came to B.H. in grade 7. She was wild and crazy then, and was even more so in her final year! She is known for her vibrant personality, her sense of humor, and her P.T's. She is often seen roaming through the halls screaming "I can't go on!" and eating cheese sandwiches with lots of mayonnaise! Kerrie is also often seen gossiping with Heather C. in the common room, about D.B., R.H., and Minaki. Her pet peeves are: Top 40 tunes, pickled beets, and J.B. Her ambition is to become a successful fashion designer. Her fate: to work at Suzy Shier. Kerrie plans to attend the U of M and study fashion design next year. Best of luck, K-K, we'll miss ya!

DEANNA HANSEN '81-'87
CRAIG GOWAN

Deanna Hansen came to B.H. six years ago, and has maintained an honor roll average throughout the years. Not only has Deanna excelled academically, she has also been actively involved in the volleyball program. Deanna was captain of the volleyball team in grades 9, 11, and 12 and even tried out Junior basketball for one year. Deanna also received an award as best athlete in grade 10. In Deanna's final year, she became a prefect as she was elected as head of Craig Gowan. Deanna's main interests lie in volleyball, late night study sessions for chemistry, social events, and Mark. Will we ever forget Deanna's active side – such as highland dancing in the halls? (I'm sure the teachers won't!) Or can we ever forget Deanna's constant need for caffiene shown by that one litre bottle of Diet Coke brought into every English class? Then, there's that desperate look that came during classes that said, "Get me out of here now! I can't take this!" The school will miss this energetic blonde with the attitude of a true private school girl. (Right, Dee?!!)

Nancy, Jane, and Lisa

NANCY FULLERTON '81-'87
CRAIG GOWAN

Nancy joined the Balmoral Hall family when she was in grade seven. Nancy is in Craig Gowan house. She has been on the volleyball team from grades eight to twelve, the basketball team from grades seven to eleven, and the track team from grades seven to ten. She was the president of her class in grades eight, nine, and ten. Nancy is planning on going into Fashion Merchandising at the University of Manitoba. This year she was known as the girl with a different hair style every few months. (What color is your hair really, Nance?) We wish you all the best in the future. We love you, Nancy! Keep smiling!

JANE ELLIS '74-'76, '81-'87
BRAEMAR

Jane started school at B.H. way back in the '70's, and then left for Toronto. In 1981, she returned as a shy and rather short person (5'4"). This did not last long, however. She became boisterous as the years progressed, and grew to a whopping 5'11". Rumor has it that she's still growing!

Jane has been actively involved in school life, whether it was academics or athletics. She has been on the honor roll since grade 7, and she is known to some as a scientific whiz-kid. Jane was head of Braemar in grade 10, and was elected to the Grad Executive Committee.

Jane's extra-curricular activities included synchronized swimming, and __ __ __, and she was also vice president of the Shoe Club.

Jane plans to attend the University of Western Ontario, in the Faculty of Science.

LISA HASTINGS '81-'87
GLEN GAIRN

Lisa joined our B.H. clan in grade 7. After some first day qualms, Lisa found life at B.H. bearable. In grade 8, she was voted house head of Glen Gairn. Lisa was known for her "brutal" sayings, sunworshipping, talking on the phone, and booting around in the "Stang"! She always got along with her teachers, especially after she dropped French in grade 10. After school Lisa would be known to skip homeroom, race out the door, and be home before many of us were in our cars. From there she would proceed to put on funny pants and go play with the horses, or see J.H. Of the two, we're not sure which she enjoyed more. In grade 12, Lisa lived on Super Nibs and cherry bubbliscous. This kept her healthy and full of energy for the weekends, when she usually let loose. Lisa will be taking her sunny disposition to U of M to continue her education. After one year of hard work, Lisa may continue out of province. B.H. will miss her cheery fun smiles – "Ew Dollie" Good Luck!

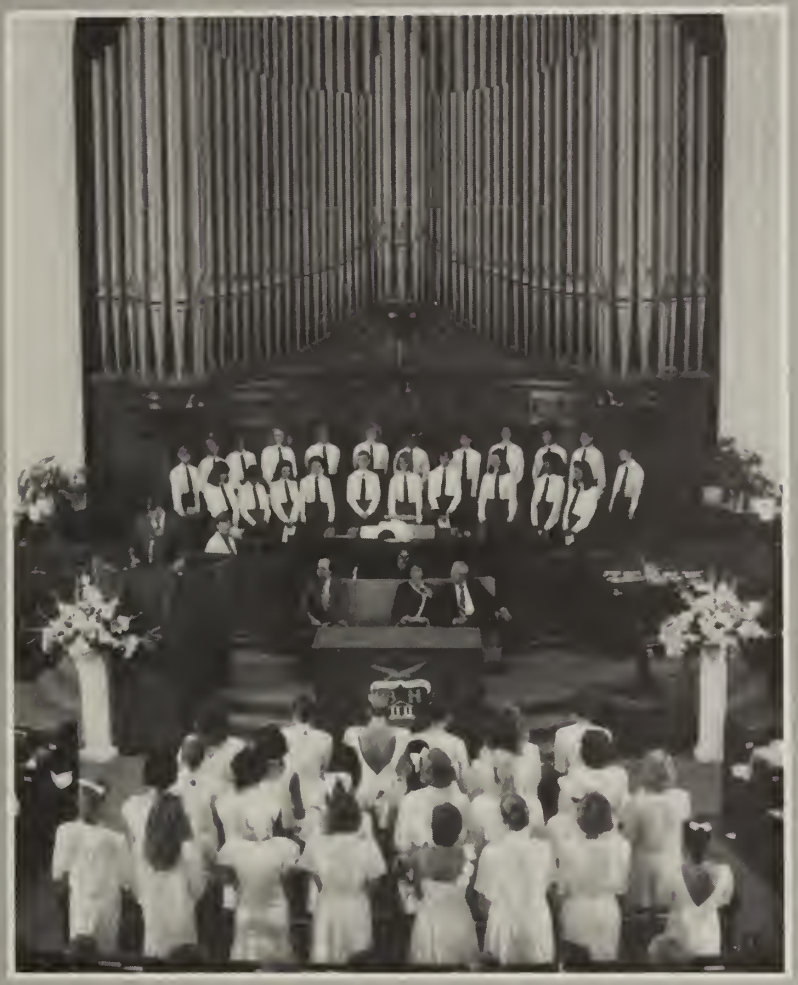
GRAD NIGHT!

THE CLASS OF '87

ALUMNAE TEA



THE END OF A DANDY YEAR

AWARDS ASSEMBLY

CLOSING EXERCISES

Dr. Dobson, Mr. Staunton, parents, teachers, guests, students, and fellow graduates:

We've learned how to read, we've learned how to write, we can multiply and recall Canadian History. We understand oragraphic rainfall. Some of us can calculate the volume of revolution of $y = x2$, and others can tell you the color of the dichromate ion. But above all, from our sticker collection in grade 6 to our skip-out day this year, we've learned about life. We've learned to count the value of the days, and to treasure knowledge. I'm sure that every graduating class had felt that they are that special generation, committed to the challenge of their future. Nurtured and encouraged by the love and concern of our parents and teachers, we can go forward and we can achieve. We can become whatever we wish. That is what Balmoral Hall has given us. Boundaries to sustain us, so that our future is limitless.

So what happens now to that Hunter McLean kilt we've worn all these years? What's to be done with the umpteen white shirts that somebody pressed? How do we say good-bye to those 7 1/2 pairs of forest green, dark green, and off-green socks?

It doesn't matter. We fold them, and put them away in some bottom drawer. But some things can't be put away. The B.H. spirit will be alive within us forever. A month ago at Reunion '87, I saw this proven true. What we've gained here is not easily lost.

Next year, we won't see each other at intramurals, we won't complain to each other about our ties, and we won't be eating lunch in the common room. But wherever we are, we'll have with us our memories, and we'll hold firmly in our hearts the friendships that we've made. After sharing so much, and being so close, it's hard to say good-bye. But we can't have to say good-bye to what we've gained from each other. That we'll keep with us wherever we go.

In Tennyson's words:
"I am a part of all that I have met; Yet all experience is arch wherethrough Gleams that untravelled world whose margin fades For ever and forever when I move."

We, too, are a part of everything we've met. And we, too, have a future that is boundless.

I am privileged to acknowledge and thank those who have helped us along the way. The admiration we feel for the teachers of Balmoral Hall has given us our respect for knowledge. They have guided us, supported us, and provided an atmosphere where it is easy to learn, easy to get along, and even easy to be troubled. The term "family" has often been used to describe B.H. and I believe it fits.

There's another family who has helped us. Our loving parents have seen us through it all – success, failure, discouragement, and hope. We owe them everything and hope that we have made them very proud.

Today, we part with what we've grown accustomed to, but as B.H. Alumnae we have many strengths. Our futures lie brilliantly before us and I have every confidence that this class will succeed. So much lies ahead, we've closed only the introductory chapter for our lives.

VALEDICTORY

As T.S. Elliot writes:
"There will be time, There will be time To prepare a face to meet the faces that you meet; There will be time to murder and create And time for all the works and days of hands That lift and drop a question on your plate; Time for you and time for new And time yet for a hundred indecisions And for a hundred visions and revisions Before the taking of a toast and tea."

THANK YOU!
